New York, Dec. 16.—The Herald's Washington special savs: A call has been issued for a general election in that district, to be held on the 21st inst., to obtain a manifest from the voting community to be placed before Congress to show how repugnant the pasage of the negro suffrage act is to the people. The floating population of Washington, department clerks and government artisans, whose families are residing there, were considerably incensed at the recommendation/contained in the Mayor's late message to impose a poll tax of $2 on all such residents.

The Herald's Fortress Monroe correspondent says: Jeff. Davis is turning his attention more than ever to the concern of his soul. He has recently been visited by his old spiritual adviser, pastor of St. Paul's Church Richmond, who passed the entire day at his prison in religious reading and conversation and administered to him the sacrament. The World's Washington dispatch on tains the following:

The Secretary of the Treasury to-day decided not to anticipate January interest on bonds of more than the whole amount. The interest payable in gold is about $15,000,000.

The Herald's Washington dispatches say the settlement of the back pay and accounts of discharged soldiers will be much facilitated by sending their discharge papers direct to the office of Col. Paulding, paymaster, in charge of the district of Washington. By this means the long delay occasioned by soldiers' accounts in the Second Auditor's office will be avoided. This is understood to apply only to cases where the applicant is living.

The want of a regular mail service between this country and Colombia has long been felt to be very injurious to our interest in that quarter. The consequence is that our trade is declining there, while that of England is rapidly increasing, because there are several lines of steamers which carry regular mails between the Colombian ports and the English.

Post Master General Dennison, aware of the difficulty, prepared the draft of a postal convention, which was submitted to Gen. Lalzar, the Colombian Minister, in August last, which with the exception of two articles, was fully approved. The draft in question was accordingly returned to Senor Lalzar on the first ultimo, with a suggestion that certain modifications be made therein. On the 12th of same month a note was addressed to the Department by that officer, stating that in consequence of his recall from the post of Envoy Extraordinary to this country, it would be impossible for him to continue the negotiation of the postal convention, and that he had forwarded the communications to him of the first of September to his government, and that as the modifications therein suggested were accepted, he trusted that the Postal Convention would be speedily ratified.

Governor of the State.

Gov. Jenkins in his address to the Legislature says:
There is no conflict between the constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the United States are supreme. The Governor pays a handsome tribute to the good conduct of the negroes during the war. He says:
They must be thoroughly protected in their personal property and have the right to enter the courts. They should be encouraged to work and then they would be the best working class, and their late owners the best employers in the word. The Governor then reviews the condition of the State institutions and says that for a time even the lightest taxes will prove burdensome, but he thinks that in the end the people will not suffer. He concludes his address with an earnest prayer that God will help us all.

At the close of the address Provisional Gov. Johnson handed the great seal of the State of Georgia to Gov. Jenkins, who took the oath of office and was then declared by the President of the Sente the Governor of the State.

The sentiments of the address are most cordially endorsed by the members of the State.

The Commercial says the market is well supplied with loanable funds, and to-day there is some running around to place money over Sunday even at 6 per cent; the regular rate however on call loans being 7 per cent. The payment of the interest upon 7-30s has put a good deal of surplus money upon the market, but the incressed supply of funds does not seem likely to produce any reduction in the rate of interest. The demand from the street is on the increase owing to the growing activity of stock. The railroad speculation is confined chiefly to Reading, Cleveland & Pittsburgh and Cleveland & Toledo.

The Evening Post says the Fenian Senate has not adjourned, as has been erroneously reported. No decisive step will be taken until the arrival of Mr. Stephens, head of the Brotherhood, from Ireland. The order recently issued by Col. O'Mahony, calling the delegates of the Fenians to assemble in congress on the 2d of January, will be countermanded by Mr. Roberts, the new president of the organization.

New York, Dec. 16.—The Times' Washington dispatch says:
Hon. B. M. Harris, Member of Congress from Maryland, proposes to take his seat on Monday. He says he can take the oath. Some believe the House will refuse to permit him to occupy his seat, or will expel him as an unworthy member, for the offence of which he was convicted last summer by court martial. Harris claims that the pardon of the President removes political disloyalty.
